INTRODUCTION

This bibliography provides an annotated list of lay legal materials for Ontario public libraries. The aim is to facilitate the assessment of present collections as well as provide an introduction to the wide variety of legal works available. It is not recommended that every public library buy all the works described here and indeed many of the major legal sets and advanced materials which have been included should only be considered by the largest libraries. As well as being expensive, continuations such as statutes and case law reports are multivolume and grow in size each year with supplementation. The latter can really only be used properly if the library also has the Canadian Abridgement to update and link them, another very substantial purchase. Legal looseleaf services can be useful, especially for those with prior knowledge in the area, but the constant filing and continuing expense should be taken into account before purchasing.

Currency of Legal Materials

One of the most important characteristics of the law is its changing nature. It cannot be stressed enough that legal materials must be kept current. An out-of-date edition of Martin's Criminal Code is dangerous – the very section that a patron is reading may have changed and he or she will be relying on a wrong statement of the law. This does not mean that all older texts should be discarded because many can still be useful for their approach to a subject area and the vocabulary they introduce. Their statement of the substantive law, however, should be viewed with caution if they are not recent works, and the applicable up-to-date legislation should be consulted.

Because some acts such as the Family Law Reform Act or the Business Corporations Act are used very frequently, office consolidations of these works may be published on an annual basis putting together, in a very handy form, the act or the regulations that have been passed under them. Some of these consolidations are included here, but patrons and librarians should be aware that these do not reflect changes over the year which may have occurred since the printing. A looseleaf statute citator or the appropriate gazette in which amendments to the act or the regulations are published, should also be checked.

Organization

This bibliography is divided into two parts. Part I includes primary materials such as statutes and case reports, plus reference works which aid in legal research and collection development. Part II divides the secondary materials into broad subject areas.

Scope

Because this bibliography is intended to be used for assessing present collections as well as acquisition purposes, some out-of-print materials considered still to be of use have been included. Information that a work is no longer available has occasionally been included but not comprehensively.

A selective bibliography such as this cannot cover all the legal and quasi-legal subject areas and thus the following topics are not included: sociology and the law, Quebec law, international law, politics and government, investment, economics, criminology in general except for criminal justice, and legal fiction. Except for a very few British, American and Australian materials, only Canadian publications have been included. Cursorily represented are magazines, audiovisual resources, teaching aids and French materials. The Canadian Law Information Council is currently compiling a list of materials for teachers of law which will fill the gap in the teaching area. For in-depth research on particular legal topics, subject bibliographies are often available.

The Law Reform Commission of Canada is a permanent federal body whose purpose is to study and review the law in a specific area with a view to making recommendations for improvement and reform. Their excellent reports give the history of the law on this topic, its present status, comparisons with that of other countries, and recommendations for change. It was not felt appropriate to include more than a few of the major reports in a lay bibliography such as this, because of their specialized and often legalistic nature. For the serious student or those concerned with the reform of the law, however, these publications are highly recommended. They are printed in both official languages and many are free. A complete list of the reports is available from the Publications Clerk of the Commission. The Law Reform Commission of Ontario has a similar mandate in the provincial law area with reports on property, family law, etc. The works of Royal Commissions and Commissions of Inquiry have not been included.

Format

Each topic begins with a scope note which briefly explains what is included. Reference is made to other related subjects and the larger topics are subdivided. Because of the diversity of government publications, which go in and out of print constantly or reappear under different names, it was decided to indicate in the scope note the federal or provincial ministry or department that publishes in the area, and a few examples of the useful titles that they have. The publication catalogues of the Ontario and federal government are recommended for more up-to-date and complete ordering information. Many of the Ontario government publications can be obtained free of charge from:

Publications Services
Government of Ontario
5th Floor, 880 Bay Street
Toronto, Ontario. M7A 1N8
Telephone: (416) 965-6015.

Following the scope note, works are listed in alphabetical title order as follows:

Title. Author. Place of Publication:
Publisher, Date of Publication.
(Series)

Pagination	Price Range
No. of Volumes
Frequency
J - Jurisdiction	L - Language
LR - Level of Reader	F - Format

Annotation

Eight price ranges have been used:

- Free
- $5 and under
- $5 - $10
- $10 - $25
- $25 - $50
- $50 - $100
- $100 - $200
- Over $200

The jurisdiction indicates where the substantive law of the work has application. The level of reader is designed to show to whom the work has been directed and enable smaller libraries to avoid the more advanced legal works and concentrate on more appropriate lay materials. The aim of the annotation is to assist librarians in their evaluation and choice of materials.

"Recommended" appears after some especially useful works. This is not meant as a reflection on the other materials in these categories nor to be an exhaustive list of "must buys". Rather it is intended to be a suggestion that if a library can purchase only a very limited number of works in a certain area then the "recommended" titles should be considered for purchase first. The following publishers are noted for their series of lay legal materials: Cleo, International Self-Counsel Press, and IPI Publishing.

A subject key follows this introduction to aid in the determination of what term has been used for a particular legal subject area. The list of publishers and their addresses at the back is provided for the obtaining of complete ordering information and current prices. Title and author indexes complete the work.

The cut-off date for selection of materials for this bibliography was AUGUST, 1982, so new editions of these works reflecting changes in the law may have been published since then.

PRIMARY SOURCES AND REFERENCE MATERIALS

PRIMARY SOURCES

Statutes and cases are the main primary sources used in doing original legal research.

Secondary sources represent a legal expert's interpretation and summary of what the law is, based on the authoritative primary sources. It is usually, however, far more useful for a lay person without knowledge of the area and experience in using the primary sources, to begin with the secondary treatises. Once introduced to a subject, a researcher may wish to turn to the primary source material and actually read the statute, regulation or case that presents the legislator's or judiciary's statement of the law. For these reasons, the following sections on statute and case law have been included but it is not necessary that every library consider the purchase of these materials, as they are often expensive and not as accessible to the lay person as secondary sources.

Statutes and Related Materials

If a bill which is introduced into the legislature passes three readings in both Houses of Parliament and receives royal assent, it becomes part of the recorded law as an act or statute. In the following section are the tools that enable the legal researcher to keep track of the passage of a bill, know when it comes into force as an act and find the regulations or subsidiary rules that are passed under the authority of a statute. The Ontario materials have been listed here first, with the Canadian ones thereafter. The five sections are: statutes and bills; regulations; government notices; sessional papers; and citators and indexes. If a library has depository or partial depository status then it may receive some of the government publications free of charge.

ONTARIO - STATUTES AND BILLS

First and Third Reading Bills. Toronto: Queen's Printer.

Issued for each session	Over $200 - annual subscription
-------------------------	----------------------------------

Provides the bills after first reading and then after the third reading, which is usually the form in which they will be passed.

Ontario Statute Citator Current Bills Service. Toronto: Canada Law Book.

1 v.	$25 - $50 - binders
	$25 - $50 - annual service

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

A companion service to the Ontario Statute Citator which provides full text of bills which have passed their third reading. Bills are filed alphabetically by their title.

Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1980. Toronto: Queen's Printer, 1980

9 v.	Over $200
Decennial

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Books

Every ten years the Statutes of Ontario which are in force are consolidated. The index volume is not yet available so the index to the 1970 RSO will still be valuable. Because of the hardcover format, sessional volumes must be referred to in order to discover changes to statutes after 1980.

Status of Bills Report. Ontario Legislative Library Research and Information Services. Toronto: The Library.

Twice a week	Limited distribution
J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Typed pages

Includes government bills and private members' bills and is prepared by the Library for its internal use. Address: Queen's Park, Toronto, M7A 1A2. (416) 965-4545. Invaluable for keeping up with the passage of a bill. Includes subject index.

Statutes of Ontario. Toronto: Queen's Printer, 1971.

1 v.	$10 - $25
Sessional

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

Alphabetically arranged bound volumes of each new act and amendments to other acts which have been passed during the session. In two parts: Part I lists Public Acts; Part II, Private Acts. Includes Table of Public Statutes which shows all the statutes in force. Short title index at back to statutes in volume and a Table of Regulations which indicates

ONTARIO - REGULATIONS

Ontario Gazette. Toronto: Queen's Printer.

Weekly	$10 - $25 - annual subscription $5 and under - single copy
--------	--

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

The first section contains government notices, change of name, dissolution of partnerships, etc. In the second part are the regulations filed under each of the provincial acts in numerical order of their passage. Annually, the Ontario Gazette publishes a cumulative Table of Regulations. Indexes are by the name of the regulation or the act under which it was passed. More difficult to use than Carswell Service. (See below.)

Ontario Regulations Service. Agincourt, Ontario: Carswell, 1981.

Annual 2 v.	$50 - $100 - binder and contents
Updated monthly

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

Provides complete list of regulations with an index to them which is cumulated monthly for the year. Useful for locating regulations which are very important to keep track of as they have the same force of law as statutes. Subscription includes official Table of Regulations published annually in the Ontario Gazette.

Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1980.
Toronto: Queen's Printer, 1981

8 v.	Over $200
J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

This is the second consolidation of regulations and a useful set. The texts of the regulations are printed under the names of the acts which are arranged alphabetically. For regulations after 1980, the back of the sessional S.O. and the Ontario Gazette or Ontario Regulations Service should be consulted.

ONTARIO - PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS

All of the below are available from Queen's Printer, Toronto and are depository items.

1. Daily Agenda

The Order Paper and Notices

Pamphlets	$50 - $100 - annual subscription $5 and under - single issue
-----------	--

Issued in pamphlet form each day the assembly is in session. Includes outstanding business such as petitions, introduction of bills, etc.

Business For ...

Daily condensing of the Order Paper and Notices listing the agenda of the proceedings.

2. Daily Proceedings

Votes and Proceedings

Pamphlets	$25 - $50 - annual subscription $5 and under - single issue
-----------	---

Pamphlets issued daily when the assembly is in session and which are the official record of the legislative assembly's deliberations. Published at the end of each session, as are the Journals. (infra)

3. Journals

These consolidate the daily Votes and Proceedings with indexes by subject, type of bill and sessional paper.

4. Debates

The Official Report (Hansard) Daily Edition

Pamphlets	$10 - $25 per session (plus index)
-----------	---

Provides a transcript of the debates of the legislative assembly issued in pamphlet form during each session with a two-day time lag. An index is published separately at the end of each session.

ONTARIO - CITATORS AND INDEXES

Carswell's Legislative Digest Service - Ontario. Agincourt, Ontario: Carswell, 1982.

Weekly service	$100 - $200
J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

A weekly service covering the events of the current session of the Ontario legislature. Highlights, status of legislation, speech from the throne, acts affected, private and government bills. Very useful for keeping up to date.

Ontario Limitations Periods. Ditta, Susan et al. Toronto: Butterworths, 1978-

1 v.	$25 - $50
J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

Divided into two sections. The first presents limitations of actions organized under key-word headings with the text of the statute paraphrased. The second section is alphabetically arranged by the name of each statute and contains the full text of the sections. Includes time periods limiting appeals.

Ontario Statute Citator. R.S.O., 1980 ed. Toronto: Canada Law Book, 1982.

2 v.	$25 - $50 - binder
Weekly updating	and contents
	$50 - $100 - annual service
J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

Complete annotating service for the RSO 1980 which gives the full text of all amendments, digests of cases interpreting sections and references to regulations under the act. No index so must know name of act.

CANADA - STATUTES AND BILLS

Bills. Ottawa: Supply and Services.

Issued for each session	Over $200 - annual subscription
J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Pamphlets

First and third reading bills are made available as they are tabled during the session. Expensive service but useful for keeping up to date with activity in the legislature. Individual bills can be purchased and price is dependent on the number of pages.

Canada Gazette: Part III. Ottawa: Supply and Services.

Frequency varies	$10 - $25 - annual
	$5 and under - single issues
J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Book

Part III contains the Public Acts as passed, to avoid the time lag involved with the sessional volumes. Also contains list of proclamations showing when the acts have been proclaimed in force. Sometimes a Table of Public Statutes from 1907 to date is published.

Revised Statutes of Canada, 1970 = Statuts revisés du Canada, 1970. Ottawa: Supply and Services, 1970.

10 v. + 1 index v.	$100 - $200
J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Books

A federal consolidation, similar to that of Ontario but not as regular, of all the laws in force. To check for amendments and new laws since the 1970 revision, one must use the Sessional Volumes and the Canada Gazette, Part III. Also available from Carswell and Canada Law Book.

Statutes of Canada = Statuts du Canada 1970 - Ottawa: Supply and Services, 1970-

Sessional	$25 - $50
J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Book

Cumulates the acts passed during the session of Parliament. These volumes are published several months after the close of the session. The Canada Gazette, Part III is the most current source for new acts.

CANADA - REGULATIONS

Consolidated Regulations of Canada, 1978.
Ottawa: Supply and Services, 1978.

19 v.	Over $200 - vol. 1-18, index $50 - $100 - 1978 supplement, 2 v.
-------	---

J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Book

A consolidation of the regulations made pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Canada 1970 and new acts passed before December, 1977. Good index volume. For most recent regulations see Canada Gazette, Part II.

Canada Gazette: Part II. Ottawa: Supply and Services.

Semi-monthly	$10 - $25 - annual subscription $5 and under - single copy
--------------	--

J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Book

Part II contains statutory orders and regulations as they are passed under each federal act. There is a quarterly cumulative index. Updates the Consolidated Regulations of Canada.

CANADA - PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS

All of the following are available from Supply and Services, Ottawa, in their English and French format.

1. Daily Agenda

The Order Paper and Notices.

Pamphlets	$50 - $100 - annual subscription $5 and under - single copy
-----------	---

Daily listing of the business of the House of Commons for the next five days.

Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate.

Includes section on Order of Business. See below.

2. Daily Proceedings

Votes and Proceedings.

Pamphlets	$25 - $50 - annual $5 and under - single issue
-----------	---

Published daily in pamphlet form when the House is in session and constitutes the official record of what transpired that day. Republished at the end of the session in the bound Journals of the House of Commons.

Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate.

Pamphlets	$25 - $50 - annual $5 and under - single issue
-----------	---

Published daily in pamphlet form when the Senate is in session and constitutes its official record. Similar to Votes and Proceedings.

3. Journals

Journals.

The daily proceedings of both the House of Commons and the Senate are cumulated in the bound Journals after the session.

4. Debates

House of Commons Debates: Official Report (Hansard).

Pamphlets	$25 - $50 - annual $5 and under - single issue $5 - $10 - annual index
-----------	--

Verbatim account of what is said in the House issued daily in pamphlet form during the session. Annual index available in bound form.

The Debates of the Senate: Official Report (Hansard).

Pamphlets	$25 - $50 - annual $5 and under - single issue $5 and under - annual index
-----------	--

Like the Debates of the House, these are published daily to record what happened in the Senate.

CANADA - GOVERNMENT NOTICES

Canada Gazette: Part I. Ottawa: Supply and Services.

Pamphlets	$20 - $25 - annual $5 and under - single issue
-----------	---

J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Book

Part I lists proclamations so you can tell when a bill becomes law. It also contains various legal notices that must be published, such as bankruptcies, incorporations and divorce notices. Each issue is indexed, and quarterly index is also published.

CLR/RLC (Canadian Legislative Report - Rapport législatif canadien). Toronto: Micromedia, 1979.

Published every two weeks

Looseleaf	Over $200 - annual
-----------	---------------------

J - Canada	L - English and French
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

To find out what has happened to a bill during a legislative sitting or if there are any regulations that affect a statute in which you are interested, CLR/RLC has gathered this information together, provided abstracts of the subject matter, a status table and various indexes. The Summaries are arranged by subject and abstract the essential information for new bills and regulations. The Status of Bills tells you what has happened to a piece of legislation -- whether it has passed first, second or third reading, etc., and which committee it has been referred to. The Bill Title Index arranges by key word in the title of each bill, all of the bills introduced or pending in the legislatures covered by the CLR/RLC. Acts Affected provides the name of the statutes and bills currently introduced or pending that would affect that statute. Expensive but very useful.

CANADA - CITATORS AND INDEXES

Canada Statute Citator, R.S.C. 1970.
Toronto: Canada Law Book, 1971.

2 v. Quarterly supplement	$25 - $50 - binder and contents $50 - $100 - annual subscription
------------------------------	---

J - Canada	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

An alphabetical listing of the Statutes of Canada, with recent amendments and court cases that have been decided to clarify particular sections of the statutes. Not official but very useful for finding most current amendments to acts with the regulations under them.

Federal Limitation Periods: A Handbook of Limitation Periods and Other Statutory Time Limits. Joffe, Hal, et al. Toronto: Butterworths, 1978.

1 v. Irregular updates	$25 - $50 - annual subscription
---------------------------	--------------------------------------

J - Canada	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

Ready reference guide to the time limits for bringing actions, applications for judicial review and for filing various notices as required by statute valid up to January 31, 1978. Each section of the act is presented briefly but clearly. Good index.

Ottawa Letter. Toronto: CCH Canadian, 1977.

1 v. Weekly updates	$100 - $200 - annual or biannual subscription
------------------------	---

J - Ontario	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Looseleaf

New and commentary on federal government business which monitors the progress of selected bills through Parliament, listing each change in the progress of a bill through the legislative process. Related news stories from Ottawa are also covered. Cumulative bi-annual index.

Status of Bills Report. Canadian Law Information Council. Ottawa: The Council.

1 v. Weekly in session	$50 - $100 - annual subscription
---------------------------	---------------------------------------

J - Canada	L - English

The complete statement of Ontario statute and case law under 150 subject titles kept current by looseleaf supplements. Each title has its own subject index and table of cases. Still in process of being published. Is replacing second edition at rate of four volumes per year. Desk Key has lists of titles, statutes and key word index.

Case Law Reports

The other important primary source material for lawyers is the case law which consists of the decisions of judges in courts and administrative tribunals. The law reports series record the decisions considered significant for the lawyer's legal research purposes. Some series are official; some are from commercial publishers; some cover only a certain topic such as Family Law Reports, some the decisions of a particular court such as Supreme Court Reports, and some, general cases of importance such as the Dominion Law Reports. Usually the cases are arranged in rough chronological order with a Table of Cases at the front and a Subject Index at the back. The volumes are numbered and often a major series of reports will begin a new series after 100 volumes or so and restart the numbering. It is necessary, therefore, to make sure the series - 2d, 3d - is recorded in these cases. There are many different law reports and their expense and specificity usually militate against any but a very large research library buying them. The following section sets out a few of the major series and is presented as an introduction to what is available, not as a recommendation for purchase. These and others are available in university law libraries, law firms and court libraries.

Four divisions have been used in this section: current series which give information on very recent cases; regional series which cover a certain area of Canada; those from a particular court; and subject reports.

REFERENCE MATERIALS

This section includes: dictionaries, directories, form manuals, research guides, and selection tools for aid in legal research.

Dictionaries

The many unusual and unfamiliar words and phrases used in law necessitate the use of a good legal dictionary but unfortunately American and British tools must fill the gap in this area. Of the Canadian legal "dictionaries" available, most are actually glossaries and the newest one, the Canadian Law Dictionary is not recommended for purchase. (See CLIC Legal Materials Letter V. 3., no. 10, June, 1980, for a review indicating the discrepancies and problems of this work.) Many secondary treatises have very useful glossaries for the particular subject area that they are treating.

Basic Canadian Legal Terminology. Williams, J. Stevens. Toronto: McGraw-Hill Ryerson, 1978.

151 p. $5 - $10 (paper)

J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Book

Not set out in dictionary form but rather as an extensively-indexed glossary arranged by subject. Emphasis is on common commercial terms rather than family or criminal law. Intended for use by secretaries or clerks who need to transcribe and understand unfamiliar legal terms.

Black's Law Dictionary. Black, Henry Campbell. 5th ed. Minneapolis, Minnesota: West Publishing, 1979

1511 p. $25 - $50

J - U.S. L - English
LR - Reference F - Book

The Standard American dictionary of legal terms and phrases of American and English jurisprudence with a table of abbreviations, a guide to pronunciation, a study guide and law student helps. Some of its definitions do not apply to Canadian law but its comprehensiveness and ease of use make this a highly recommended dictionary.

Dictionary of Legal Abbreviations Used in American Law Books. Bieber, Doris M., compiler. Buffalo, U.S.: W.S. Hein, 1979.

337 p. $5 and under (paper)

The difficulty of finding out what a particular citation refers to often arises because of the difficulty of translating the abbreviation used. This gathers American abbreviations together with some British and Canadian ones. Not complete for Canada but still useful.

Handbook of Canadian Legal Terminology. Flynn, William J. Don Mills, Ontario: General Publishing, 1977.

113 p. $5 and under

Annual	$10 - $25
J - Ontario	L - English
LR -Lawyers, legal para-professionals, reference	F - Book

A diary and address book prepared for Ontario lawyers or para-professionals with 215 pages of information in the front for the quick reference needs of the legal professional. Includes names of judicial officers, schedule of fees and disbursements, information on procedure for submitting appeals and a synopsis of important notes on various areas of law, i.e. family, income tax, immigration, landlord-tenant, motor vehicle, etc.

Ontario: Telephone Directory. Ministry of Government Services. Toronto: Queen's Printer

Semi-annual	Free
J - Canada	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

Gives listings of all the employees of the Ontario government by department. Includes index by employee name and can be very effectively utilized with the new KWIC Index to the Government of Ontario which gives better subject access. Addresses and phone numbers. Recommended.

Organization of the Government of Canada 1981. Toronto: MacMillan.

Annual	$10 - $25
J - Canada	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

Describes at some length the departments and agencies of the federal government with organizational charts as illustrations.

1 v.	$10 - $25
Annual
J - Toronto	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

Lawyers in Toronto are listed alphabetically by name with phone numbers. Also includes a few pages of useful information such as tariff schedules and real estate procedures.

Who's Who in Canadian Law. Davidson, Evelyn, ed. 2nd ed. Toronto: Trans-Canada Press, 1982.

Annual	$25 - $50
J - Canada	L - English
LR - Reference	F - Book

This provides biographical information on the lawyers who personally provided their own names and information. There are no criteria for listing, nor is it comprehensive. The index and entries are arranged geographically, which makes it difficult to find information. Some of the information can be found in the Canadian Law List. No alphabetical name index for all the provinces. Includes lawyer's education, activities, etc.

Form Manuals

Most legal transactions involve the use of forms and often a person may wish to research the meaning of a form he or she is being asked to sign or find out the proper manner to fill one out. The following works represent some of the form manuals usually used by lawyers or legal secretaries. It is also important to remember that some forms are printed with a specific statute or regulation. Also very handy are the popular guides which often provide sample forms and easily comprehensible explanations of their setup, completion, and legal ramifications.

Guide to Corporation Law Forms and Procedures. Knox, E. Rachel. Toronto: Butterworths, 1974.

------	-------------

Guide to Litigation Forms and Procedures. Knox, E. Rachel. Toronto: Butterworths, 1970.

1 v.	$10 - $25

1 v. $25 - $50

(Modern Legal Secretaries Series)

J - Canada/Ontario L - English
LR - Legal secretaries/reference F - Book

Although some of the above are dated, it is still a useful series, with each volume setting out the procedures and forms needed for particular transactions. The forms are, for the most part, photographs of actual printed forms used. Running commentary explains the use of the forms. Index.

Legal Secretary's/Assistant's Manual - Ontario Edition. Don Mills, Ontario: Richard De Boo

2 v. $100 - $200

J - Ontario L - English
LR - Legal secretaries F - Looseleaf

Expensive but more up to date than previous series. Includes real estate, condominiums, corporate law, Federal and Small Claims Court, succession law, and civil litigation.

O'Brien's Encyclopedia of Forms. 10th ed. Agincourt, Ontario: Canada Law Book, 1966.

9 v. with supplement Over $200

J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Books

A complete set of working Canadian forms for lawyers in the areas of commercial, corporations, conveyancing and mortgages, leases, wills and trusts. Does not include those forms that appear under a particular statute or regulation, as these are printed with the legislative rule itself.

Research Guides

How-to books on legal research

Automated Legal Research: A Manual for QL Users. Foster, M. Anne. Ottawa: CLIC, 1981. (CLIC Working Paper No. 5)

165 p. $5 - $10 (paper)

J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Book

Detailed explanation of the commands, strategies and data bases of QL, the automated Canadian legal database. QL Systems Limited, operating out of Kingston, Ontario includes the following Canadian government and legal materials: Hansard Oral and Written Questions, R.S.C., R.S.O., Statutory Orders and Regulations, Supreme Court Reports, All Canada Weekly Summaries, Canadian Criminal Cases, Dominion Law Reports, Weekly Criminal Bulletin, Western Weekly Reports and Atlantic Provinces Reports among others.

Canadian Legal Research Guide. Murphy, Paul T. Revised edition. Windsor: Faculty of Law, University of Windsor, 1981.

42 p. $5 and under

J - Canada/Ontario L - English
LR - Reference F - Booklet

The object of this little guide is to provide a quick overview of basic legal research in federal and Ontario law. Included are brief explanations of statutes, cases, legal periodical indexes, and computerized legal research. Written for law students, but useful for anyone doing legal research. Recommended.

How to Update a Statute for all Canadian Jurisdictions, Dykstra, Gail S. Ottawa: Canadian Law Information Council, 1980.

38 p. $5 and under

J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Booklet

First of its kind, this compiles the series that appeared in CLIC's Legal Materials Letter to help librarians and the public update statutes. Handy reference tool for every library but some information is already dated. Recommended.

Legal Research Guide. Soroka, Allen H. 3rd rev. ed. Vancouver: U.B.C. Law Library, 1975.

71 p. $5 and under

J - Canada, B.C. L - English
LR - Reference F - Booklet

Specifically prepared for law students using the UBC Law Library but still useful for its general methodology. Includes legal maxims, foreign words and phrases, a list of abbreviations and a sample memorandum.

Legal Writing and Research Manual. Yogis, J.A.; Christie, I.M. 2nd ed. Toronto: Butterworths, 1974.
(Canadian Legal Manual Series)

136 p. $10 - $25 (caseboound)
J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Book

For law students, a popular overview of legal materials, including encyclopedias, digests, dictionaries, statute and case citators, with emphasis placed on statutes, regulations and case reports. A chapter on the preparation of a legal memorandum is also included and a section on American legal materials.

Manual of Legal Research. Teeple, Diane; Lax, Joan. Toronto: Toronto Community Law School, 1974.

30 p. May no longer be available
J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Booklet

Typewritten, easy-to-understand, short manual on how to do legal research. Not comprehensive and somewhat dated, but good introduction.

Taking the Law Into Your Own Hands: A Guide to Legal Research. Roberts, Tim. Vancouver: Legal Services Society, 1981.

76 p. $5 and under
J - Canada/B.C. L - English
LR - Reference F - Booklet

Supersedes A Popular Guide to Legal Research published in 1977 by Legal Services Commission. Although written for B.C., users in other jurisdictions will welcome this understandable explanation of how and why to initiate legal research. Includes typical legal information problems, law-making and the sources of law, the primary and secondary materials of law, and a chapter on doing legal research on your own problem. Very valuable.

Using a Law Library: A Guide for Students and Lawyers in the Common Law Provinces.

Banks, Margaret A. 3rd ed. Toronto: Carswell, 1980.

212 p. $10 - $25 (cloth or paper)
J - Canada L - English
LR - Reference F - Book

A research guide for law students, this is the first Canadian book that explains what legal materials are and how to use them, with illustrations and examples. Includes chapters on law reports, statutes, legal encyclopedias and digests, reference books, treatises and periodicals. While Dr. Banks' writing style is easy to read, the organization is somewhat confusing and there is no discussion of lay access to the law. Those who wish to use the standard primary and secondary sources could find this very useful.

SECONDARY MATERIALS

Abortion

In the mid-'70s the Criminal Code was changed to permit "therapeutic abortions" in accredited hospitals. The following materials discuss these legal aspects of abortion, but most social, moral and religious tracts for and against abortion have been excluded. General books on criminal law will also treat this subject.

Administrative

The federal and provincial governments often designate to regulatory bodies the power to (1) make regulations with the force of law and (2) hear cases in specific subject areas such as pensions, milk marketing, etc. The powers and procedures of administrative bodies in general are included here but not detailed works on specific tribunals. The latter are found under their subject headings. This area is closely allied to the Urban and Community Development section where citizens' action groups are highlighted.

Constitutional

The many works in this area range from the numerous academic texts on the former BNA Act and its division of powers to the great volume of documents put out by the government and private sources concerning the proposed new Constitution. Already works are being published forecasting how the courts will actually use the new Constitution. Included in this section are but a few of the basic treatises on the former constitutional law, some primary source material for researchers, the issue of Quebec separation and a few works on the new Constitution. The former Bill of Rights is covered in the Human Rights and Civil Liberties section.

Government publications:

The Task Force on Canadian Unity published reports focusing on the aspects of the constitutional debate, the Canadian citizens' opinions and concerns, and the relationship between individuals and the government.

Practical, interesting and informative.

Contracts

It is difficult to find books aimed at the lay person in the area of general contract law so the more advanced works included here are not recommended for all libraries. It is important to remember that particular contracts, such as leases, and employment agreements are covered in the popular materials written in these narrower areas. Insurance has been included herein. The Schools Program Newsletter had a special issue on Contracts and the Law in January, 1980, v. 4, no. 1. (See Selection Aids.)

The film begins with the rapid processing of criminal cases and slowly narrows its focus until one case is brought to the viewer's attention, a fairly simple case of theft. By describing this through the eyes of the accused, the witness, the crown and defence attorneys, as well as the judge, the case becomes a vehicle to express their thoughts on the administration of the criminal justice system. Very effective presentation. Teacher's Guide explains procedures shown, background information and definitions.

Criminal Procedure

Since it is usually a lawyer who handles a criminal court case, many of the following procedural volumes are at an advanced level and may prove difficult to use without prior knowledge in the area. The self-counsel publications and the government pamphlets are therefore an excellent place to begin, with the other works available for more detailed research.

Family

Another large area of great concern to many lay people is the area of family law which includes separation, divorce, children, maintenance, etc. The sections that follow are: general; divorce; case law, practice and legislation; and periodicals. Again, the self-counsel, I.P.I. and CLEO works are the most useful starting points.

Freedom of Information and Individual Privacy

The federal and Ontario governments have both been considering changes in the areas of access to government information and privacy law, and the federal act has only recently been passed. The Ontario Commission on Freedom of Information and Individual Privacy appointed in 1977 spent three years investigating and researching this area. For a complete record of their research publications (1) contact The Publications Centre, 5th Floor, 880 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1N8 or (2) consult the Murdoch and Paterson bibliography listed below; or (3) refer to the CLIC Legal Materials Letter which has a complete annotated list, Nov., 1980, v. 4, no. 3. Included here are computers and privacy, wiretapping, electronic surveillance, search

In an earlier publication The Protection of Privacy Act, (Toronto: Butterworths, 1974), Manning considered this legislation, section by section. In this companion work, the author examines all the statute and case law with reference to this act and gives judicial interpretations of words and phrases of the act. Table of cases. Interesting for those with knowledge of this complicated area.

General

In this area are included works on the legal system, the law in general and other miscellaneous works. Following the first main section is one with materials for secondary schools followed by a third part containing works on the teaching of law.

Special mention must be made of the excellent I.P.I. Series of which Introduction to Law by Susan Ungar is but one. There are eight other titles on various other topics such as criminal, labour, sexuality, tort, family, student's rights, consumer and human rights. These are included in this bibliography under the subject heading. Each work is logically and well organized with a bibliography, glossary and index. The Teachers' Guides include projects, games and possible solutions to the questions raised. For those using this series, an update was published in 1980 noting changes in the original editions: I.P.I. Update - 1979. In the Public Interest. Cohl, Karen. Toronto: I.P.I. Publishing, 1980, 50 p., $5 - $10.

J - Canada	L - Cantonese, French, English, Portuguese, Punjabi
LR - General	F - Brochure

"The brochure was written to explain the basic precepts of the Canadian legal system to a person who is totally unfamiliar with them and uncomfortable in reading English. It touches upon how our law developed, that the legal system is basically fair, that one must have evidence to prove a case, that without some proof a case may be lost even if that may seem unfair and how to deal with a lawyer." Oversimplified but still useful.

The Law and the Deaf Project set out to accomplish the following tasks: to survey the law as it applies to people who are deaf and make recommendations for appropriate changes; prepare a lecture series on the law which could be presented to groups of deaf adults; survey the types of social services available to deaf people with appropriate recommendations for change; to establish liaison relationships with interested groups and to prepare individuals (through courses in sign language) to act as translators for the lecture series. The report of their activities, Is Justice Deaf?, has recently been completed. The survey of the law covers such topics as employment, criminal law, taxation, education, insurance, jury duty and the administration of justice. The report contains valuable information on methods of correcting the problems in these areas.

Examining discrimination in hiring by using a simulated series of job interviews for a position in sales (of heavy duty machinery), this filmstrip permits the viewer to see the subtle and not-so-subtle forms of discrimination. The action is well paced and interesting. An accompanying teacher's guide prepared by Dr. John Kehoe continues the use of case histories to illustrate discriminatory practices in employment and provides not only an analysis of the filmstrip's case, but 24 other cases as well. Although for B.C., there are many applicable principles for Ontario.

One of the most complete income tax handbooks written, Gilmour discusses every facet of the Income Tax Act in a language easily understood by the practitioner, business person or student. The arrangement is by 10 major subject divisions divided into parts and chapters. Easy-to-use table of contents and index. To clarify features of the act, Gilmour outlines at the end of each chapter pertinent tax bulletins, circulars and rulings that should be consulted. There is a table of references to the Income Tax Act and its regulations at the back, which will refer the reader from the act to the handbook.

J - Canada	L - English
LR - Advanced	F - Books

A comprehensive service which updates and indexes income tax regulations, interpretation bulletins, information circulars, tax ruling, and all forms in current use. The subscription includes a new edition of Stikeman's Income Tax Act Annotated each year.

Canada Tax Manual. Neil, A.V., ed. Toronto: Richard De Boo, looseleaf service; kept up to date with amendments. (Stikeman's Income Tax Act Annotated included in subscription price)

1 v.	$100 - $200
J - Canada	L - English
LR - General/advanced	F - Book

The Canada Tax Manual attempts to explain the complexities of the Income Tax Act in a way that's non-technical and as easy to understand as possible. For this reason, and because it is kept current by frequent amendments, it is a most useful work. The material is arranged by subject matter and each section has its own brief alphabetic index. Also included is a more detailed index to the whole manual, again with page references, and a section with samples of nearly all relevant tax forms with a numeric index.
